Our Speaker: Jessica Cole

Jessica joined West Shore Free Church staff in September of 2016. Prior to serving at West Shore, for several years Jessica was a music evangelist and had the opportunity to proclaim the gospel through music internationally and in almost every state in the US. Most recently she served on staff as the Director of Worship Arts for almost 13 years at Salem Church in Staten Island, NY. Serving alongside her husband as a senior pastor's wife she had the opportunity to serve women in various capacities, including teaching Bible Studies, mentoring younger women, counseling, and ministering to seniors and widows. Jessica's greatest passion is missions and she has a heart to encourage and equip women to live on a mission for God.

She is a graduate of the Gateway Theological Institute and is continuing her theological education online through Liberty University.

She and her husband Eddie have been married for 20 years and have an 18-year-old daughter Madison, who is a freshman at Liberty University.

Eddie currently serves as our Superintendent in the Eastern District of the EFCA. Jessica travels with him once a month to serve alongside him and minister to the pastors wives in our district.

They love to travel, try new restaurants, and play tennis together (and laugh at how bad they both play).
